Frank Burlison is one of the most respected prep boys basketball writers in the country.

His 15-player all-freshmen team included three local players and the ultra-talented Spencer Freedman (Santa Monica High).

Oak Park's Riley Battin was the Most Outstanding Player and Battin's teammate Wes Slajchert made the list.

Crespi's Brandon Williams had a stellar second-half of 2015 and Freedman had no trouble adjusting to high school ball.

Battin benefited from being the focal point of Oak Park's offense as evidenced by his many double-double's.

Freedman displayed dazzling court skills from vision to awareness, dribbling to passing and, shooting and scoring.

Freedman figures to develop into one of the top sophomores on West Coast.
