

Varsity Times Insider

High school sports across the Southland

Fairfax one-day basketball tournament: Live updates

OCTOBER 17, 2015, 4:04 PM

The high school basketball season begins next month, and Fairfax High is the site on Saturday for a one-day event that will feature lots of top teams and players getting ready for the season ahead.

Admission is free. I'll be providing notes, results and commentary all day.

Here's the schedule:

- Torrance 71, El Segundo 52
- Mater Dei 65, Brentwood 26
- Long Beach Poly 70, Maranatha 52
- Fairfax 60, Crespi 55
- Windward vs. Alemany, 3:30 p.m.
- Loyola vs. La Canada, 5 p.m.
- Chino Hills vs. Redondo, 6:30 p.m.
- Santa Monica vs. Sierra Canyon, 8 p.m.

Chino Hills-Redondo should be the featured game. The UCLA-bound Ball brothers are scheduled to play for Chino Hills.

LOAD NEWER UPDATES (12)

11:14 A.M.

Spencer Freedman adjusts at Mater Dei

(Glenn Koenig / Los Angeles Times)

Spencer Freedman, the talented sophomore point guard at Santa Ana Mater Dei with a scholarship offer from USC, has quickly adjusted to his new school after playing last season at Santa Monica. Well, at least on the court. Off the court, he's getting challenged in his sophomore year.

"It's definitely different," he said of going from public to private school. "I went to private school my whole life until Santa Monica and kind of forgot what it was like."

Basketball wise, he's dealing with the occasional outbursts from Coach Gary McKnight.

"It's only to make me better," he said.

—Eric Sondheimer

LOAD OLDER UPDATES (2)

BE THE FIRST TO COMMENT